

Vice President of Operations – Ore Group

As one of the top members of an organization, a VP of Operations is tasked with managing multiple departments, staff, and projects within our companies. This means having extensive knowledge of our industry, finances and employee output while understanding and striving to meet the Groups strategic goals, mission, values, and beliefs.

What we are looking for:

- Toronto-based individual with knowledge of all aspects of the mining industry.
- Senior operations executive with extensive leadership experience.
- A degree in geology (P.Geo.), mining engineering (P.Eng.), business, or finance.
- An individual with strong attention to detail.

Responsibilities:

The broad description of the departments which will be overseen by Ore Group's VP of Operations would revolve around functions that occur on-site, except for the geology. The VP of Operations would be responsible for, oversee and liaise with the VP Of Exploration, CFO and CEO as a part of the oversight of the following files:

- Project operations monitoring and execution
- Project budget monitoring
- Land management & permitting
- Contractor management
- Ore Group personnel liaison
- Project Descriptions, Environmental & Baseline Studies
- First Nations & Governmental Affairs

What we offer:

- To be part of a dynamic team within a quickly growing Organisation
- Relevant work experience in a diversified group of companies exposed to Gold, Copper, Uranium and Nickel
- Professional development through hands-on work experience.
- Opportunity for vertical career growth
- Competitive wage and above average equity incentive plan exposure to a portfolio of publicly traded companies

How to Apply:

Please email careers@oregroup.ca with "VP Operations" in the subject line along with your resume and cover letter describing your background and your interest in this opportunity.